Poet Minerva to Discuss and Read from her Contribution to “From Chicken Soup for the African American Soul”

SAN DIEGO – The City of San Diego Public Library will host an author reading from the book “Chicken Soup for the African American Soul.” Noted poet minerva (aka Gail Hawkins) will discuss her contribution to “Chicken Soup for the African American Soul,” the latest book in the popular series. Her essay, “Meeting Maya” which talks about the poet running into Maya Angelou in a grocery store was chosen from more than 3,000 entries.

The author reading will be on Saturday, Oct. 29 from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Wangenheim Room of the Central Library, located at 820 E. St. This program is free to the public.

This event is supported by Poets & Writers Inc. through a grant is has received from The James Irvine Foundation.

For more information, call the Central Library at 619-236-5800 or visit the Library on the City’s Web site at <http://www.sandiego.gov.public-library/>.
